Division Review

BACKGROUND

The draft Street Naming and Numbering Policy was presented to the Priorities Committee of Council on Thursday, November 23, 2005. The Priorities Committee debated the use of designations on street name signs and moved to refer the policy back to the Street Naming Committee, so that the Street Naming Committee might reconsider the policy. The Priorities Committee indicated that it is important that street name signs be clear, concise and easy to read and asked the Street Naming Committee to review the use of designations on street name signs.

The Street Naming Committee held three meetings to review and discuss this issue in more detail and having reviewed a number of options, concluded that there were a number of compelling reasons to introduce the use of designations on street name signs. Firstly, the Street Naming Committee found that for safety reasons the more precise the information on the street name sign, the easier it would be for citizens to identify and distinguish between streets with similar names. Secondly, the members of the Committee found that knowing the designation is helpful in way finding. As for example, an individual who is looking for a "court" or a "circle" knows that they are looking for a more residential street that is either a deadend or loops back on itself as compared to a "lane" which is a small narrow roadway or a "boulevard" which is a major roadway. Finally, the members of the Committee identified that without designators, there can sometimes be confusion as to the purpose of a sign. An example considered by the Committee is the street name sign at the corner of Ramsey Lake Road and Paris Street which reads simply "Ramsey Lake" and which could refer to either the body of water or the road.

The Street Naming Committee recognized that it is important that street name signs be clear, concise and easy to read. In the course of the discussions, the members of the Committee found that this issue could be addressed through the design of the sign. It will be important to develop a design in which the street name itself appears more prominently than the designations, either through spacing, colour, size of font, style of font, use of upper and lower case lettering and/or layout of the sign. The Committee also identified that there may be opportunities to introduce new street sign programs that reflect the community heritage through the use of innovative or distinctive sign design that could be implemented as new streets are named or signs are changed. Accordingly, the Street Naming Committee has expressed a willingness to work with staff in the Infrastructure and Emergency Services Department to review and consider options and standards for street sign design that will ensure that way finding is both attractive and highly visible.

As the Street Naming Committee is nearing the end of its term, it has identified the following work plan which will be implemented over the next few months.

Following approval of the Street Naming Policy, the Street Naming Committee is asking that Council pass the By-Law 2005-278 (attached), which by-law contains a list of those unopened streets which currently have duplicate names that can be changed to come into compliance with the new policy. The Committee will also bring forward to Council a list of several hundred distinct street names, that can become the basis of a street naming bank and can be used as future street names.

The Street Naming Committee has approximately a dozen requests related to naming or name corrections on specific streets. The Street Naming Committee will review these requests in the summer, in the context of the new policy, and will hold the necessary public hearings so as to have these name issues presented to Council for resolution later this fall.

Finally, the Street Naming Committee will begin working with staff from Infrastructure and Emergency Services to review options for sign design, which options may include a new look for street signage that is attractive, highly visible and enhances way finding.

BACKGROUND:

The attached list consists of 1,088 possible street names. It is recommended that the Committee adopt this list for future use.

In the past, some of the former Municipalities, most notably the City of Sudbury, kept such a list and added to it from time to time. The list could then be used by Subdividers and Developers when creating new streets, or the Subdividers and Developers could suggest their own names.

The names in the attached list consist of the names from the previously approved list of the former Municipalities, once duplicate names had been removed. As well, several historic and local names have been added, often on suggestion from members of the public.

REFERRED AND DEFERRED MATTERS

Street Naming and Numbering Policy, Use of Designations on Street Name Signs	Report dated January 24th, 2006 was received from the Executive Director of Administrative Services regarding Street Naming and Numbering Policy, Use of Designations on Street Name Signs.

The Committee discussed various options relating to the use of street designations on street name signs in the policy which would be applied to future street signs and new replacement signs. The following options were discussed:

1. policy as previously recommended, i.e. Rue Paris Street;
2. legal name to include bilingual designations but signage to show street name only, i.e. Paris
3. legal name not to include designations
4. existing legal name on signage, i.e. Paris Street, Montée Principal
5. separate policy for signage.

The City Solicitor advised the Committee that whatever their decision, they should provide Council with reasons for such decision. He indicated that they should provide Council with a tentative work plan stating that once the policy is in effect, the Committee will deal with the list of requests and the list of names suggested for approval.
